

Theme I. - SOIL AND WATER CONSERVATION

Theme Ie : Landscape management, on an ecological basis.

The Assembly recommends :

- that in landscape planning due regard should be paid to the principles of nature protection.
- that the Chairman of the Landscape Planning Committee should endeavour to obtain from each country during the next two years a survey of geographic, social and economic conditions affecting landscape planning, and the problems arising therefrom ; these surveys should form a basis for the study of the problems and the formulation of possible solutions.
- that, as large-scale land and water development schemes are changing extensive parts of the world, I.U.C.N. should collaborate with F.A.O. in the preparation of these schemes. For this purpose the technical staff of the I.U.C.N. should be increased by the addition of experts who would be seconded by F.A.O..
