

11. The Seventh General Assembly

urges that the Union shall promote the exchange of knowledge between scientists working on chemical and biological control and those concerned with nature protection in order to promote the practical application of the results of observations and research.