¹ Further to feedback from Members after the Jeju World Conservation Congress, where presentation by election candidates took over 5 hours of time of the Members' Assembly, the present provisional agenda proposes to reduce the time for candidate presentations during the Members' Assembly in order to allow more time for discussion of issues of strategic importance for conservation and the Union. It is therefore proposed that only Presidential candidates present themselves during the formal sittings of the Members' Assembly, in an interactive manner, and that candidates for all other positions be provided with ample opportunity to introduce themselves to the global membership, outside the formal sittings of the Members' Assembly, such as during the Meeting of IUCN National and Regional Committees and the Regional Members meetings, either before or during the period in which the Members' Assembly meets. Opportunities are being explored in order to be included in the Draft Congress Agenda to be approved by the IUCN Council in April 2016, taking into account feedback from IUCN Members on the present provisional agenda and the number of candidates which is expected to be known by then.
